

Christopher Parrington

Partner – Minneapolis

Christopher Parrington focuses on cannabis matters, securities and commercial litigation.

Mr. Parrington represents cannabis companies in respect of deals, regulatory work, and litigation. He has represented cannabis clients located in many of the states that have passed legislation legalizing cannabis (whether at the medical or recreational level). Mr. Parrington has the knowledge, understanding, and experience necessary to advise clients through the myriad challenges of navigating state laws and local government rules and regulations relating to cannabis. He has also represented clients attempting to navigate through the regulatory landscape that resulted from the federal government's legalization of hemp under the 2018 Farm Bill including continuing hemp operations under the 2014 Farm Bill, creation of compliance policies and procedures under the 2018 Farm Bill, and issues related to the interstate transportation of hemp.

In his securities litigation practice, Mr. Parrington represents broker / dealers, investment advisory firms, fund managers, investment advisors and other financial institutions in a variety of matters including FINRA arbitrations, state securities fraud claims, and regulatory investigations and enforcement actions. Mr. Parrington has defended numerous investigations and enforcement actions with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission and arbitrated many cases before FINRA including customer and industry disputes initiated by or against his clients. Mr. Parrington's securities practice has resulted in him handling cases throughout the United States and has caused him to enjoy an outstanding reputation as a leader in defending against securities fraud allegations.

In his commercial litigation practice, Mr. Parrington represents businesses and business owners in a variety of matters including contract disputes, shareholder disputes, non-compete and non-solicitation agreement disputes, confidentiality and trademark disputes, and general business disputes. Mr. Parrington has tried and arbitrated more than 25 cases across the country to verdict or final award and argued commercial litigation cases before the courts in various states. Mr. Parrington has argued appellate cases that resulted in landmark decisions in areas including contract interpretation, share valuation, loan modifications and non-compete agreements.

Mr. Parrington has taught a cannabis-law course at Doane University in Nebraska. He is also a frequent contributor to Minnesota Attorney at Law Magazine on topics related to Minnesota's medical cannabis industry, and has written
